Studio B Performing Arts Center, located in Highland Village, invites you to bring your group to our theater this summer to see one of our productions geared just for kids. Studio B is a non-profit community theater that has been providing the local community with theater productions, classes and workshops for over ten years. Exposing children to live theater gives them a look at performing arts and helps create a life-long love of the arts. In addition, children can learn they can be active participants in live theater.

For the summer 2011, we are offering a fun FAIRY TALE summer with several choices for you to bring your children. Group ticket rates are $5 per child with teachers/camp counselors free. All of these shows are age appropriate. Approximate length of the show is also listed. Please note that due to limited space and popularity of this program, we must have a final head count one week prior to show. We cannot offer refunds on fewer children than your original reservation count.
